Newsletter of the Puget Sound Olds Club

An Official Chapter of the Oldsmobile Club of America

JULY 2018

The 2016 Greenwood Car Show

We are running the 2016 show photo again in this issue. For 2018, the Puget Sound Olds Club has again paid "in advance" for ten spaces. This will insure a guaranteed location for our members. This is one of the best shows in the State. As of the printing of this newsletter, eight (8) members have paid for their space. If you attended in the past, or not all, and would like to attend the 2018 show, please call Jim Edwards at 206-963-7517 and tell him that you will bring the application (on page 13) with you to the show. There are two pre-paid spaces still available. Please make your check out to the Puget Sound Olds Club.

Jim has made arrangements for easy entrance to the show. The directions to the show and where to enter are on page 12.

Dust off your Olds and join us at the Greenwood Car Show on June 30. You will have a great time!

President's Message

PSOC Members,

We are approaching three important car shows of the year, the Greenwood Car Show (directions to the show on page 12), the Annual Zone Show and the BOP Show. It would be great if we could have a large showing of our members at each show. How about putting these shows on your calendar and trying to attend as many of them as possible? We know that schedules are often very full but seeing many members at these events is great!

On July 19th, Pam and I will be joining our Canadian friends for the trip to Olds, Alberta and the "25th Annual Rocket Roundup in Olds." This is a show that we have wanted to attend for many years but our schedule was always too full. This year we made sure to put it on the summer calendar.

On July 31, we will be flying to the OCA Nationals in Gettysburg, PA for the Annual Board Meeting. If you have any concerns you would like to express, please let us know.

For the next three months, car shows will take the place of chapter meetings. Regular chapter meetings will resume in October at one of the King County Libraries. Please try your best to join us for as many of cars that you can.

See you at the Zone Show on July 14th...

Ed Konsmo

President

“BETWEEN THE BUMPERS” ... By Ed

Get off my lawn! It's not for sale! Thanks for asking. Please go now!

(This story by Jeff Koch of Hemmings Daily is so funny that I could not resist sharing it.)

Here's how I know I'm old. I bought, brand new, a car that people are now hunting me down to ask to buy.

It's a time-honored tradition: you're driving through a neighborhood, you spy an old car of some sort on a driveway, or under a tarp, or peeking out of a garage. You ring the bell and inquire. And you're either offered a screaming deal on the spot, or you're turned away at the door. Or you're brought in for a cup of tea and become friends with the owners as you bide your time and wait for them to die. I am the one who will turn you away at the door.

Just in the past year, I've been on the receiving end of a steady trickle of queries about selling my 200,000+-mile 2002 Subaru WRX wagon. For reasons unexplained (beyond “I'm an a-hole,” anyway) this completely enrages me.

It's sitting under a tree, battery dead but otherwise functional, and very badly needs a wash. Also needs some exercise, as do I. It looks neglected and unloved, but nothing's farther from the truth. Everything else in my driveway—my Nissan S-Cargo, my Nissan Skyline GTR, my wife's Ford Fiesta ST, certainly my minivan—will disappear from my life before that Subaru ever does. It's the first car I ever bought with my own money. It's the car I wanted for five years before it came out. It's the car that helped convince my wife that cars didn't need to be 30 years old and get 8 mpg in order to be fun. It was the family car for nearly 15 years. I love it. I'm working on hollowing out a Subaru-shaped hole in my messy garage so that it can live inside; I hang my head in shame that it's sitting under that tree as you read this. I will be buried in that car (well, maybe I'll inhabit the ashtray after I'm cremated). I am an adamant first-and-only owner.

You may not want it. That's fine. You're not getting it. But neither is anyone else.

The first query, maybe a year ago, I was awoken from my afternoon nap by the doorbell. The guy inquired after it, and I was so startled in my semi-conscious stupor that I yelled “NO” in my best “get off my lawn” voice (well, “get off my xeriscape,” I guess, since you don't have to water rocks). His voice got quiet, his eyes wide, his words apologetic as he backed away slowly toward his own car. I was more annoyed that he interrupted my nap than anything else.

Not a week later, I was running it through the local hooshendoosh to knock some of the crud off. And the guy at the entrance shooting bug spray at my headlights asked me if I was interested in selling. I was conscious at that point, so I was kinder and told him I was going to keep it forever. He gave me a free wash upgrade and an air freshener wafer.

There have been a couple of other starry-eyed young dudes (and it may have even been the same one multiple times, I couldn't be bothered to remember) who have come to the door and asked in the last few months, and all have been turned away. Last time, last weekend, and again mid-nap, my wife answered the doorbell. Someone young and eager inquires after it. She says no in a far more charming way than my blunt manner could ever manage. He starts ladling on the charm, trying to work it. She's still saying no (she's in sales so she knows how to counter all of the BS, and as a bonus she knows what that car means to me), and he's not really taking no for an answer. He did take no for an answer once I started bellowing NO! NO! NO! NO! NO! from the sofa. He ran away before I could get vertical, which is probably best for all involved.

3 I don't even want to joke and give an outrageous number. “Sure, I'll take a quarter-million for it. You got cash?” It would just open myself up to negotiation to the “everything has a price” brigade. And my Subaru doesn't. But something tells me that I'm going to be greeting a lot of hopeful strangers at my door in the years to come anyway.

MEMBER NOTES & CHAPTER INFO

This page features notes of interest for and about our members. If you have something interesting to report, please send an e-mail to your editor at ekonsmo@msn.com, or call and leave a message, 253-845-2288.

It is with sadness that we announce the passing of former Puget Sound Olds Chapter member, Roberta Hobart-Kubeck. Roberta passed away on June 7th. At Roberta's request no funeral service will be held. A memorial event will be scheduled in the near future.

Greenwood Show Directions!

For Greenwood Show attendees, the directions for how to enter the show are on page 12 of this newsletter. It is very important that you enter from the correct street. You must be in your space on Greenwood Avenue no later than 7:30 AM. This time will be enforced by the officials of the show. Please leave your home extra early in case there are any traffic delays.

Your help is needed!

We have our Annual Zone Show coming up in a few weeks on July 14th. Nina Rogers, Zone Show Chairperson, would like your assistance in obtaining items for the show raffle. If you have a good relationship with a business or vendor, would you please request an item or two for the raffle? You can bring the item or items with you to the show. Please call Nina at 360-651-6246 and let her know that you will be bringing raffle items to the show. Thank you very much for helping Nina.

CHAPTER MEETING MINUTES

OLDSMOBILE CLUB OF AMERICA PUGET SOUND CHAPTER MINUTES

June 3, 2018

The meeting at the Old Spaghetti Factory was called to order at 12:50 pm.
Kathi Straw gave the treasurer's report.
Minutes from the May meeting were approved.

Old Business:

Jim Edwards gave an update on the Greenwood Show set up and will provide detailed instructions to make member's entry easier and more organized. Seven spaces have been paid for by members. Jim will make sure that additional entrants will be accommodated. Directions will be sent by Jim to be included in the newsletter for attendees.

One chapter member renewed last month bring the total membership to 43 members plus spouses.

New Business:

Chapter member, Greg Hinton has donated a number of art items to auctioned off at the Zone Show. It was agreed that these will be offered at a silent auction at the show. Pam will obtain the silent auction forms. Kathi and Ed will obtain the OCA Road Show banner for the Zone Show.

Robert Kruse updated the members on the Rhodes River Ranch Car Show.

It was reported that Ken Thompson has been moved to a hospice location in Eastern Washington. Ken is no longer taking phone calls.

Meeting was adjourned at 1:25pm.
